Castro Agents Round Up Hundreds Of Suspected Foes

Prime Minister Leads Hunt for Guerrilla Band

Authorities Avert
Attempted Attack
On Police Post

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's agents rounded up hundreds of suspects today in a determined bid to keep a pocket sized revolt against his revolutionary regime from reaching dangerous proportions.

Intelligence officers sought out suspected foes of the Castro regime as the bearded Prime Minister personally led a strong battle-equipped force into the Sierra Maestra Mountains hunting Manuel Beaton and his elusive guerrilla band. Rain and fog hampered the military operation being carried out under a tight lid of secrecy.

Anti-Communist Organization

Main target of Castro's agents appeared to be members of the Movement for Recovery of the Revolution (MRR), an anti-Communist organization said to be directed from abroad by former Castro officials.

Among those reported seized were a number of former members of Castro's 26th of July movement.

Authorities reportedly intercepted an attack on a police post 15 miles south of Havana by a group of youths who had planned to seize arms so they could join Beaton's forces in eastern Cuba.

The pro-Castro newspaper La Calle said police headed off the band wounding one youth and capturing four.

Official News Blackout

An official news blackout blanketed the operation in the Sierra Maestra where Castro's own revolutionary movement that toppled dictator Fulgencio Batista was born.

An indication of where the search centered for Beaton and his band, estimated at 50 men, came from a group of student hikers who were turned back Thursday at La Plata, Castro's old command post in the heart of the Sierra Maestra.

County Man Badly Hurt In One-Car Crash

A 33-year-old East Liverpool man was seriously injured Friday evening in a one-car crash on County Road 424, about a mile southeast of East Liverpool.

State Highway Patrolmen from the Lisbon Post said the injured man, Burt Shields, was hurt when he was thrown from his car after it hit a guard rail. He suffered internal injuries, a possible crushed chest, a fractured wrist and multiple cuts and abrasions.

Shields' car reportedly went out of control, left the road on the southside, hit the guard rail, regained the roadway and left it again on the north side, hit a guard rail and then struck two mailboxes. Shields was thrown from the car when it hit the north rail. The mishap occurred at 9:30 p.m.

In a hit-and-run accident at 2:10 this morning, Jack Rukenbrod, 20, of 45 W. Clark St., East Palestine, suffered a head cut when hit by a car on Marks Landing Rd., Guilford Lake. Lisbon State Patrolmen said Rukenbrod left his car and was returning to it when he was hit by an unidentified car. He was treated at Salem City Hospital.

Walter E. Mellington, 28, of RD 2, Rogers, told patrolmen he was run off the road by an unidentified car while he was driving north on County Road 435, a mile north-east of East Liverpool. The accident occurred at 5 p.m. Friday.

Charged with driving left of center was William Thomas, 18, of East Rochester, after his car and one driven by Kenneth M. Mathers, 28, of Minerva, collided on County Road 402, just north of Rt. 30, at 7:10 p.m. Friday.

4 Firms to Locate In Keener Bldg., FSC Says

The First Salem Corporation announced today that negotiations have been completed for the locating of two plastic concerns, a food company and a land development council in the Keener Building, 714 S. Broadway.

Contacts and further planning are currently underway to add a sign fabricating firm, a rubber concern, an electronics company and a medical consulting office in their headquarters at the Keener Building, announced Atty. Walter Jay Hunston, president.

The FSC a group of citizens interested in promoting industrial growth in the Salem area, acquired the Keener Building last month. Hunston said the corporation was the result of nearly eight years of study and planning and was accelerated because of the decline in industrial payroll in the last four years.

Merle K. Loucks, executive vice-president, said that FSC is capable of providing operating capital to new firms coming into the Keener Building and that of office, laboratory and manufacturing space is available.

The Keener Building has 43,000 square feet of manufacturing and office space, and is air-conditioned. Officers of FSC are Mr. Hunston, president; Mr. Loucks, executive vice-president; E. Ronald Durand, vice-president and management consultant; Milan Momchilovich, research and development consultant; Elden Groves, secretary; Miles N. Brooks, controller; Walter W. Schuck, treasurer and assistant controller.

The Corporation has authorized a 15-man board of directors, but will eventually elect nine. Eight have been chosen thus far. They include the above seven mentioned men and Atty. Ralph Atkinson.

Newark, N.J. Fire Leaves 300 Homeless

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Three hundred persons were homeless today from a coal yard blaze that fired 24 dwellings in a four-block area.

Three hundred firemen fought the blaze in record 88 degree heat that may have contributed to the outbreak at the abandoned coal yard of Household Fuel Trestles, Inc.

The firemen won control after a more than two-hour battle, but 14 tenements were destroyed. Ten other dwellings were extensively damaged but can be restored, Deputy Fire Chief Philip J. Reilly said.

Sixty-five families are permanently homeless, 10 families temporarily out of their homes as a result, Reilly said.

Seven firemen and a number of residents were injured, none seriously.

The fire apparently began when a resin-filled drum exploded. About 100 of the drums were stacked under a long wooden trestle in the coal yard.

Reilly said the heat of the sun may have caused the one drum to blow up.

The trestle flared like a bundle of matchsticks and soon sparks were bombarding buildings all around. Flames and brown smoke were suddenly everywhere.

South African Officials Warn Against Strike

Threaten to Banish
Natives to Reserves
If They Participate

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The South African government threatened today to banish Negro workers to native reserves in the remote interior if they join the stay-home strike called for next week.

The government's Department of Bantu Administration and Development warned the African work force they would be stripped of their jobs if they heeded the strike called by underground African leaders.

Leaflets Are Distributed

The warning was issued at Cape Town after thousands of leaflets calling for a week-long work boycott were distributed in the Johannesburg area.

The outlawed African National Congress called the strike to force abolition of the passbook system by which white police control movement of nonwhites, and to force the release of jailed African leaders.

The government statement reminded Africans that, as a result of work boycotts in the past four weeks in connection with their antipass campaign, many Africans already have lost their jobs. Many who burned their passbooks were left jobless when the government ordered employers not to give work to any African who could not produce a book.

Send Natives Into Backwoods

Minister of Justice Francois Erasmus told Parliament earlier this week the government already was "shipping many idle and superfluous Bantu back to their homelands" — meaning from the cities into the backwoods of native reserves.

Today's government statement said: "The Bantu (African) public are reminded that a considerable number of Bantu workers were dismissed from their employment as a result of the recent stayaway from work campaign and have since been unemployed. Unless they find work soon they will have to go back to their homelands."

"Bantu workers are therefore, in their own interests warned not to pay any attention to pamphlets or other forms of encouragement for them to stay away from work."

Police Stage Raids

Johannesburg white police already have taken direct action to prevent or break the threatened strike by staging raids to round up alleged Negro inciters.

There was a question whether Africans could stage an effective week-long boycott. Many Africans already are short of money from the previous stoppages. Many also are frightened by the severe police crackdowns.

Furthermore, the African organizations' leadership is badly depleted by jailings.

The effectiveness of the strike

Flying Boxcars Circle Near Hawaii

Air Recovery Attempt Of Orbit Capsule Set

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Giant Air Force Flying Boxcars circling near Hawaii play a taut game of catch today with the whizzing Discoverer XI satellite.

The game: Net a parachuting 27-by-33 inch capsule after it's ejected by the satellite blasted into polar orbit Friday from this seaside missile base.

If successful, the recovery paves the way for sending animals and then men into space and bringing them back.

Air recovery of the capsule would be a singular first in man's exploration and conquest of the inky void of space. Nose cones and capsules containing animals have been rocketed into space and recovered. But none has been recovered from orbit.

Six of the previous Discoverer series have achieved orbit. Five carried capsules but none was recovered.

It's a technically tricky celestial game of "pin the tail on the donkey", but space experts are confident it can be accomplished. Scientists at precisely the right moment must trigger the capsule loose from the 19-foot-long satellite circling the earth's poles every 92 minutes.

If the button is pushed at exactly the right time, the capsule will kick loose 200 miles high near the North Pole and drift down into the 150 by 50 mile recovery area southwest of Hawaii.

Eight C119 cargo planes trailing huge nets wait for the capsule. The trick, of course, is to

It was to the newsman that the youngster sent a letter months ago that brought him to America for treatment.

"Do you think," the letter asked, "that the heart of a child has to stop because his father has no money to pay for an operation?"

The newsman, Associated Press writer John O. B. Wallace didn't think so. Nor did the surgeon, Dr. Aaron N. Gorelik, who will operate on the boy, nor the Park.

Uruguayans to Visit In Area

Damascus, Beloit
Ruritans to Be Hosts

Twelve exchange students from the South American country of Uruguay will be guests of the Damascus and Beloit Ruritan clubs next weekend.

The group of 11 men and one woman is composed of veterinarian students who are visiting this country as guests of the U.S. State Department. Two interpreters, one from Washington and one from Uruguay, are accompanying the students on their U.S. tour.

The group has been in this country since early April. They are scheduled to arrive in Youngstown from Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., by bus next Friday evening. They will be met by the Beloit and Damascus Ruritans.

The young students specially requested a visit to Ohio. After visiting the Salem area for four days, they will move on to Wooster. The trip here next weekend will be their first Ohio stop.

On Saturday the students will be taken on a tour of area farms. Saturday evening and all day Sunday, April 24, will be spent with their hosts.

Visits to various veterinarians, Salem business establishments, industrial plants and farms are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday April 25 and 26.

The group will be housed at Barnett's Motel on the Damascus Rd.

In addition to inspecting district farms, the Uruguay delegation will visit the Poultry Association plant at Columbiana, the Denning plant here, Farm & Dairy, Purity Dairy, local veterinarians and the Damascus Livestock Auction.

Five Convicts Bid for Freedom At Walla Walla

Two Unaccounted

On Prison Grounds

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Washington State Prison officers cut down with blazing gunfire Friday night two of five convicts who had overpowered three guards in a bold attempt to escape.

One of the wounded prisoners was hit in the face with buckshot. The other was sent sprawling by a rifle bullet in the abdomen as he dashed across a field south of the penitentiary. Neither was hurt critically.

Guards recaptured a third convict unharmed. Two others were still unaccounted for. Acting Supt. William Maclin said it was possible they never made it over the wall.

Convict's Jump Guards

The flight for freedom started at 7:30 p.m., during the recreation and shower period, in Six Wing when the five convicts jumped three guards and forced the officers, at knifepoint, into the cellblock.

Carrying knives fashioned from table knives honed to a sharp cutting edge, the prisoners stripped the guards of their outer garments and caps, donning the clothing for disguise. The guards, whose names were not disclosed, were locked in the cellblock.

Carrying a makeshift ladder constructed from the frames of cots and bedsprings, the convicts made their way unobserved to the east wall, between guard towers No. 1 and No. 2.

400 Attend Union Good Friday Rites

Four hundred persons attended the Good Friday services in the First Methodist Church. The Salem Ministerial Association sponsored this service as well as the noon services held each day of Holy Week in the First United Presbyterian Church.

"Christ was placed on earth to die," the Rev. Bruce Milligan, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, related in his talk on "In Noonday Darkness."

"Three groups were at the foot of the cross when Christ was crucified," he said. They were the guards and gamblers, who were placing bets for Christ's garments who were apathetic; the Sanhedrin, or Court of the Jews which convicted Christ, was antipathetic; and a group of Christ's friends was sympathetic.

The Rev. Kenneth L. Bowser, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Church, served as liturgist for the service.

The Senior Choir of Emmanuel Lutheran Church sang two anthems, "Darkness Came Over the Earth" and "Jesu, Son of God." Mrs. Dan Weber was director, with Mrs. Gilbert Timm as organist.

Organ selections by Homer Taylor were "Cathedral Prelude," "Passion Chorale Prelude," "Religioso," "Were You There?" and "The Mount of Olives."

Church Services Sunday to Hail the Risen Christ

Throngs Expected to Crowd Local Churches

Christians throughout the world will rejoice the Resurrection of Christ at services Easter morning. According to the Scriptures (John 11:25-26), "Jesus said, I am the resurrection, and the life; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die."

"For I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth." (Job 19:25).

Passages from both the Old and New Testaments will provide texts for Easter messages in commemoration of the Risen Lord.

Many local churches are holding two worship services in anticipation of the throng of worshippers.

Sunrise services are being planned by many, with the Interdenominational service planned by the Salem Youth Council set for 6 a.m.

Christ, The Lord, Is Risen

A great Easter hymn was forgotten for 50 years

Charles Wesley wrote so many hymns that he was called "The Sweet Bard of Methodism." John traveled 250,000 miles and preached 40,000 sermons. For 50 years the Wesley brothers worked together. Neither wasted a minute. John turned in at 10 o'clock and was on the go at 4 in the morning. He built a bookcase and work table in his buggy and wrote 233 books on the road. No wonder he preached more sermons than any man who ever lived. Charles wrote hymns morning, noon and night. One day his horse fell on him and nearly killed him, but his greatest concern was that a sore arm caused him to miss one day of hymn writing. When he courted at 40 he wrote love letters in the form of hymns. When the wedding was over he went home and wrote more hymns. No wonder he wrote 6500.

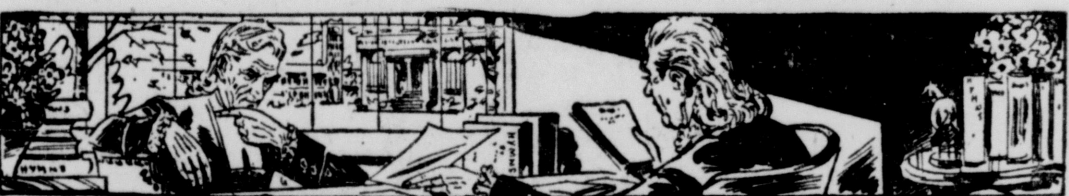

In 1780 the Wesleys were past three score and ten. Charles was 73. John was 77. John Wesley held his brother's hymns in the highest esteem and published them in hymn books and pamphlets. But the founders of Methodism were getting old and John wanted to collect the best of Charles' hymns into one great book. In the preface of his famous

Christ, the Lord, is risen today;
Sons of men and angels say;
Raise your joys and triumphs high;
Sing, ye heavens, and, earth, reply
Sing, ye heavens, and, earth, reply.

Love's redeeming work is done,
Fought the fight, the battle won;
Lo, our Sun's eclipse is o'er;
Lo, He sets in blood no more,
Lo, He sets in blood no more.

Vain the stone, the watch, the seal;
Christ hath burst the gates of hell;
Death in vain forbids His rise;
Christ hath opened Paradise,
Christ hath opened Paradise.

Lives again our glorious King;
"Where, O Death, is now thy sting?"
Once He died our souls to save;

KILLED IN COLLISION

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Henry Rose, 49, of Mansfield, was killed Friday night in a two-car crash on the U. S. 30 bypass near suburban Ontario, the State Highway Patrol reported. Two others were injured.

TO RETURN TO WORK

CLEVELAND (AP)—Eight blind broomrakers who went on strike here April 10 will return to work Monday at the Cleveland Society for the Blind.

The workers, who were demanding a 10 per cent wage increase, voted Friday to end the sit-down strike after society officials promised to make certain changes that will step up production. The Society believes the changes will result in greater take-home pay for the blind workmen.

TRAPEZE PERFORMER HURT

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)—Doris Opolka, 17, a German trapeze performer for the Mills Bros. Circus, slipped and fell 40 feet to the ground while rehearsing her act here Friday. She was reported in serious condition in the Cleveland Clinic with a broken wrist, head injuries and possible internal injuries.

Easter Meditation

By the REV. RICHARD D. FRESEMAN
Pastor, Emmanuel Lutheran Church

Fruit of the Resurrection Is Life

"But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept." I Corinthians 15:20.

To behold the season's first product of the orchard is not only a delight and a pledge, but also a reality. To hold and taste the fruit which came from the finest bud and the most beautiful blossom gives joy to our senses and at the same time is a pledge that this first fruit is evidence that more is forthcoming. Above all, the mature fruit is a reality which we can both see and taste.

The Apostle Paul has likened our resurrected Lord Jesus to just such a first fruit. To visit the tomb after the harrowing days of the Lord's betrayal, judgment and crucifixion is a delight. The tomb is found empty. The bonds of death have been broken, and He who was placed there dead has come forth whole and with life.

How delighted we are to hear the angel say, "He is not here, He is risen!" Unbelievable as it appears at first, it does fire hope within the breast. Is this resurrection not a pledge? Can it be? If He is risen; that is, if He has really risen, is it not a pledge that others shall also rise to life?

But, if one stays at the tomb to wonder he will never know. The angel directs that He has gone forth into Galilee. So there we follow Him. With the women who came to the tomb, and with His other disciples we too see Him and feel Him. This is a reality! He is risen! So then others shall rise. He is the first-fruits of the believing dead.

What a delight, what a pledge, what a reality is the resurrection! To be sure, we must all die; and that death will most assuredly end what we have experienced in this life. But the child of God sets his heart and faith upon a life that is to come, a life in which the Risen Lord promises him: "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him." (I Cor. 2:9).

The cast includes: Zilpah, Barbara Bricker; Esther, Carol Krumlauf; Ruth, Lonna Muntz; Mary Magdalene, Kathy Karnofel; Miriam, Diane Scullion; Mary, the Mother of Jesus, Gorgiana Wukotich; Leah, the Mother of Judas, Kathy Hartman; Hannah, Sandra Alesi; Sarah, Barbara Knoll.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Deep Spiritual Experiences

One day last June in a suburb of Washington, D.C., a woman received word that her mother had just died of a heart attack. The news came as a great shock since it was unexpected. The mother had reached the age of 72 in seemingly undiminished vigor and had been leading a very active life.

No one in the family had been aware of any heart condition. Four days later the bereaved daughter had a strange experience. She wrote to me describing it as follows:

"I was sitting quietly on our screened porch alone with my thoughts of Mom, going back along memory trails to childhood and back again to the present time. Then—I saw Mom strolling along as though she had just arrived in some strange, but wonderful and enchanted place. She was turning her head from one side to the other—as if she did not wish to miss a single thing. She seemed to almost burst with happiness.

"Then off to my right I saw the figure of a man stooping down as though he were working in a vegetable or flower garden. This man I knew was my father; he had passed away almost 25 years ago. Mom had not seen him yet, but she was coming toward him straight as an arrow.

"Then my wonderful vision was gone as suddenly as it had appeared. I sat there startled for a moment. Suddenly I felt as though my burden of grief had been lifted and I had such a happy, buoyant feeling that I shed tears of joy.

"I have now, of course, the memory only of this mental vision, or whatever one would call such an experience. I have tried to describe it to all the members of my family, but I am sure I can never bring it to them as realistically as it appeared to me. I wish with all my heart that I could."

EASTER SEEMS a fitting time to recount such an experience. On Easter we commemorate the glorious day when the risen Christ appeared to His disciples, demonstrating for all time that nothing can destroy Him, not even death. In His earthly lifetime He had said, "Because I live, ye shall live also" and "Whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die." By the wonders of His resurrection He confirmed to us this blessed promise.

Simply stated, the message of Easter is that death is not the end—of you, or of me, or of our relationships with our loved ones. There are always people who claim that this cannot be proved. But it cannot be disproved either. And some instinct deep within the human being prompts us to believe it. The Gospel tells us it is true—and that is enough for me.

In addition there are many thought-provoking intimations of an extra-sensory nature that can deepen our belief that death is not the end. A Christian woman has a fleeting extra-sensory glimpse of her recently departed mother. Taken as an isolated incident, this would not have much significance—except for that woman. But the frequency of such occurrences, the collective testimony of so many witnesses, offers food for every one's thought.

LET ME GIVE YOU a personal experience. A year or so ago my wife Ruth and I were faced with a big, tough, heavy problem. We prayed about it daily trying to find a right solution. Then my wife received a letter from my stepmother, saying:

"I have been praying earnestly about the problem you are trying to solve. Last night, suddenly, a thought burst upon me in this form: 'Ruthie will do all right. Don't worry about it.'"

"Now I never think of you as 'Ruthie'—you know that. Neither does any living person call you 'Ruthie.' But remember that Clifford (my father who had died two years before) often referred to you as 'Ruthie.'"

"Why did that enter my thinking last evening? 'Ruthie will do all right. Don't worry about it.' Can it be that we have someone over there working with us in our difficulties?"

How can such happenings be explained? Isn't it possible that such phenomena may be intimations of a world of spirit touching our world? Apparently the only way we ever really know these things is through deep personal experiences of a spiritual nature. I hope some day we may all have the incomparable joy of knowing these are true.

TO FACE FEDERAL CHARGES CLEVELAND (AP) — Joseph (Specs) Russell, 52, described in the 1920s as a "one-man crime wave," has signed a waiver here that will permit his immediate transfer to New Orleans to face federal charges of transporting a fraudulent check between states. He served 15 years in Ohio Penitentiary after a 52-robbery spree in 1927.

ON A DESOLATE HILL

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	19	23-42
Monday	John	20	1-25
Tuesday	Psalms	102	1-12
Wednesday	Matthew	14	22-33
Thursday	Psalms	119	169-176
Friday	John	13	31-38
Saturday	Luke	24	13-53

It is not strange that someone chose this lonely spot to erect a reverent memorial. It was on a desolate hill that three crosses stood many centuries ago . . . the Cross of the Saviour . . . and of the penitent . . . and of the scoffer.

Always these crosses have seemed to belong to the desolate hills of life. When a man feels the crushing burden of worldly care upon him, when he trudges the steep trail lost and alone — then, either he will claim the Love and Strength of Christ as did the penitent, or like the scoffer he will let his unbelief destroy his soul.

But no man should wait for a time of desolation to make life's most joyous decision. It can be made today . . . and sealed with years of happy service in the church of one's choice.

What We Render Unto Caesar

The current belief about federal taxation runs like this:

Federal taxes are high but relatively painless because they're collected and spent by remote control; they're out of sight and out of mind. They are easier to bear, therefore, than local taxes.

The belief is well-founded.

Only once a year, on the closing date for income tax filing, do federal taxes come into painful focus for most taxpayers.

The rest of the time, most taxpayers give less thought about $100 shipped to Washington for spending, minus bureaucratic handling charges, than they give to $1 collected locally.

They are less ruffled by a federal foul-up that causes a couple billion dollars to be piddled away on a military project that was abandoned before it was half finished than a miscalculation of a few thousand dollars on some close-to-home project they can see with their own eyes.

WHEN IT IS proposed that they spend a million dollars of public money on a local project for their direct benefit, they choke up with misgivings. But when they are informed that the federal government is getting ready to spend three-quarters of a billion for the uplift of the underprivileged in a remote part of the world, the information is greeted with a shrug and a sigh.

Highway construction that is too expensive to be justifiable if local taxpayers must pay for it becomes not only justifiable but niggardly if the money is going to be forwarded from Washington.

Taxpayers turn pale with consternation at the staggering cost of educating the young, until someone suggests that if the money came from Washington it would take the sting out of this responsibility to the rising generation.

This is the mass psychology of the times—a phenomenon that surely will be as baffling to historians as it is to anyone who tries to analyze it currently.

THE TAXING power that has been bestowed unquestioningly on the federal government while taxing power is given only grudgingly and sometimes not at all to state and local governments has been one of the deep curiosities of the 20th century in the United States.

There is no counterpart anywhere in the world. Even in Britain, where taxes are confiscatory, all the taxing power resides in the central government, with result that total taxes are not as great as they are in the United States, where the federal government skims off the cream and state and local governments compete for the skimmed milk.

Year in and year out proposals are heard occasionally for doing something about it. Taxpayers are reminded endlessly of the disproportionate allocation of their wealth when it is divided up in Washington. Those who pay most get the least in return. Those who pay the least get the most. If there had been a deliberate intent to subvert the principles of equity under a federal system, it could not have worked more successfully than the federal tax system has worked, with a tremendous boost from the progressive income tax law.

WHAT WE RENDER unto Caesar, whether it's the traditional levy for the common defense or the latest proposal for letting Caesar pay for the care of the aged ill, is rendered with no thought to Caesar's right to collect it in such vast portions without being subject to the same skeptical scrutiny given to every local and state expenditure.

It's a thought to while away the drab, bleak days after another year's settlement for federal income taxes. Most of us will now go back to work to spend the next three months or so to earn Caesar's share before we can claim a penny for our own.

Everybody's Nonpartisan Partisan

Baliding Adlai Stevenson's first thoughts in public upon breaking his South American silence—two months of it—many of us feel as we did in 1952 when he almost made the country forget the influence scandals of the Truman administration.

Here is by all odds the most articulate

Don't Be a Litterbug

"Spring is here. You can smell it," a reader writes in complaint of litterbugs who have made normally attractive country roads a dumping place for whatever they happen to want to throw away.

Garbage, tin cans, bottles and other refuse tossed alongside rural roads not only is unsightly, it is unsanitary. Litterbugs (those sloppy individuals who don't give a second thought to their fellow man) need to be reminded that the city maintains a public dump for debris and that there are reliable refuse haulers in Salem who perform weekly service calls.

Since littering a highway or road is punishable by a fine, law enforcement officers may have to declare open season on the litterbugs if they don't mind their manners a little better.

Real Sport for Boys

Organization of the Salem Junior Baseball League is again in full swing, with the registration of players and the assignment of teams which have moved to higher classifications this year.

Practice sessions will follow as soon as teams have been formed and managers and coaches assigned. It won't be long before the cry "Batter Up!" will be heard and another wonderful year of Salem Junior League baseball will be officially under way. It's great sport and good training for the boys, whether they be 7 or 17.

Once Over

Ike endorsed Nixon but he looked warmer endorsing Arnold Palmer, winner of the Masters Golf Tournament. Palmer wins the close ones, and the President hopes Dick can do the same. . . . Adlai Stevenson says he doesn't want to be a draft dodger in the political race. (Not necessary. He could get exempted for flat quips.)

If your kid comes home from school and says the teacher wouldn't take a red apple without getting a cash commission on the sale of fruit don't be too surprised. In what it is charged is a racket reaching into many parts of the United States, an assistant public school principal, 5 teachers and 25 others have been arrested or involved in taking money to help students pass exams through cheating. Of course the rank and file of teachers in America are of the highest character, and as indignant over such hanky-panky as anybody. But that even a small group paid to build the character of the young would conspire in teaching fraud makes your hair curl.

ONE MAN CHARGED with entering a classroom and taking an exam for a 22-year-old student was a grayhead past 50 years, but he did it unnoticed by the professor. (Ya mean the professors don't know their own pupils except by hearsay or rumor!) The assistant principal under arrest was not suspended, but merely shifted to a Board of Education bureau. If this is okay why should a kid who does wrong in a classroom be sent home instead of to the baseball park? The secretary of education says there are colleges which are fake diploma mills. He gives out a list of 30 where they can be obtained for ready cash on the barrelhead. All this and bad spelling, too!

"Stop Nixon," "Stop Kennedy" and "Stop Humphrey" drives are reported. This is clearly a campaign in which it is important to drive through the stop lights. . . . Russia is building largest telescope in world. The trick will be to get Soviets to look through the right end.

THIS IS HOW it must be done by Castro: "Prepare a note denouncing the United States as a hypocrite, exploiter and oppressor of poor. Today's note from Washington must be answered at once," says Fidel.

"But no note from the United States has been sent us today," says secretary.

"Send a reply anyhow," Castro insists.

"But we don't know whether any note is on the way or what it says. It could be very friendly and emphasize American desire to be fair to Cuban people," argues secretary.

"Don't talk back to me. Get off one of our Form 875 Series 43 notes abusing Eisenhower Herter and the American people as pals of Batista, enemies of Cuba and plotters against Caribbean peace," insists Fidel.

"But there is a rumor there will be no note from Washington this week," says secretary.

"That would be grossly insulting in itself. It would throw me off my radio and writing style. Take a letter at once assailing Eisenhower and the U.S. for such an unpardonable act," concludes Fidel.

Better Times Coming

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Good time showing through the economic clouds? Or just a gambit in the political game?

Both explanations are offered today for the U.S. Treasury's failure last week to sell as many long term bonds as it wished at the 4 1/2 per cent legal interest limit.

When a financial issue gets mixed up in partisan politics it's hard to glimpse the economics through the oratory. But some investors—torn between the stock market and the bond market—are trying hard to today.

The political opponents are the administration, which seeks to have the interest ceiling abolished, and the proponents of easy credit and low interest charges, who see that as the path to economic growth.

The Treasury holds that the fiscal facts of life make it next to impossible to place a long term bond at 4 per cent, because until recently available yields have been well above that.

Opponents of raising the legal limit say the administration is just trying, through the bond issue's partial failure, to influence Congress to remove the ceiling. They suggest the Treasury should look for better methods of selling its bonds—methods largely unspecified.

But in the perhaps more detached atmosphere of banking and financial circles renewed optimism in the business future is seen by many as the cause of the failure of Treasury to find customers of more than 370 million dollars of the 1 1/2-billion-dollar offering of 25-year bonds at 4 1/2 per cent. The Treasury had said it would be satisfied if it placed 500 million dollars of them.

The argument is that investors aren't looking for a further drop in business activity after the hesitancy of the last two months. In fact, they may be expecting to pick up. This would create a greater demand for lendable funds. Hence investors would have a good chance of doing better in the future than in tying up their money now in 4 1/2 per cent governments.

This optimistic view of a renewed pickup in the business pace isn't shared by everyone. They cite signs that the remainder of the first half of 1960 may see a still further slackening in many lines. They point first to the steel industry where new orders have been disappointing. Auto stocks remain high in spite of the recent spurt in sales. And some point out that the big gain this year has been in sales of the smaller cars where the profit turns to the industry are also smaller.

The more cautious note that last-minute Easter sales will have to show quite a spurt if they are to swing the total sales for this season above the record of last year.

But even the more pessimistic aren't looking for 1960 as a whole to be anything but a good year—not a super-duper as some thought earlier, but a better than average year and even a better one than last year.

Investors who hold the more optimistic view of the rest of the year cite these reasons why interest rates may slip no further and perhaps may climb a bit. Allaying all fears of further inflation has turned a sizable amount of money from the stock market where buying is often made as a hedge to inflation—to the bond market. Demand for mortgages is expected to rise. Demand for funds for business expansion may, too. Some lines report new orders picking up a little in recent days.

It could all mean more demand for borrowed money—at rates better than 4 per cent.

The Art of Politics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Honesty Is Candidates' Best Policy

Many people, among them some editorial writers who haven't the slightest interest in the success of the Republican Party, are nevertheless trying to tell that party it should turn down Vice President Nixon for the presidential nomination this year. The wish is father to the thought, and the attempt right now is to use the name of Gov. Rockefeller—without his consent—to try to prevent the nomination of Richard Nixon.

The New York governor has said explicitly that he does not intend to become a candidate for either the presidency or the vice presidency. But the folks who don't like Nixon keep up the rhubarb as a means of discrediting the vice president.

Thus, every now and then, a movement to "draft" Gov. Rockefeller is squelched and then bobs up again. The other day one of these abortive attempts was wisely repudiated by Mr. Rockefeller himself. He saw it as an effort to involve him in a "Stop Nixon" drive.

Why do these meddlers in Republican politics want to "stop Nixon"? They themselves wouldn't vote the Republican ticket anyway, as they are mostly "left-wingers" or so-called "liberals" or persons who still resent Mr. Nixon's part in catching Alger Hiss and other Communists stooges.

NO CANDIDATE of the Republican Party this year—who, to win, has to rely on the support of a largely conservative strength—would throw such support away in a misguided effort to lure the imagination of so-called "independents" or "liberals."

The Republican Party has enough potential votes on the conservative side to elect a president this year.

If, however, the so-called "liberal" or "leftist" group succeeds in influencing the selection for the Republican nomination of someone who is going to enter the campaign suspected of being at heart a radical or a "spender," many conservatives will be tempted to stay at home and let a full-fledged Democrat have the responsibility of steering the government as between liberal, radical and conservative practices.

One of the reasons the Republicans have had a hard time getting their voters to the polls in recent years is that some conservatives have been alienated by the Eisenhower Administration on particular issues.

In the last two years, however, many of these conservatives have rallied behind the President because of his policies at home, which have helped to stabilize the economy of the country, and his policies abroad, which have helped to keep us out of a nuclear war.

As for Gov. Rockefeller, he has played his cards well to date. He has an attractive personality and is rapidly getting worthwhile experience by his service in Albany. It will stand him in good stead in the future.

HE WOULD aid immeasurably the national ticket if the convention drafted him for the vice presidential nomination, but only if the vast majority of the Republican voters were disabused of any idea that he is just another "left-wing liberal."

Gov. Rockefeller is the kind of man who, if he someday becomes president, would make a fine chief executive. He is young yet, and if he accepts the vice presidential nomination now and does all he can to try to elect the ticket in November 1960, he will be the logical choice of his party in 1964 should Mr. Nixon be defeated this time. Mr. Rockefeller would then, of course, remain in office as governor of New York, as did Gov. DeWey after his national contest.

If, on the other hand, Mr. Nixon is elected, and Gov. Rockefeller were to become vice president, he certainly would be young enough in 1968 to step from the vice presidency to the presidency on the same path that Mr. Nixon would have traveled.

Vice President Nixon is being given all sorts of advice these days about how he should conduct himself in the pre-convention campaign. It is said he isn't getting enough publicity because he isn't making any active campaign.

SOME DAY the politicians themselves will discover the true secret of Dwight Eisenhower's success. He has ignored the so-called political rules. He has never compromised with his conscience. He has done what he thought was the right thing—the honest thing.

Strangely enough, even when some of his official acts aroused widespread criticism—and some of them were properly criticized—the public nevertheless thought them to be honest mistakes of judgment.

All that Richard Nixon has to do is to be honest with himself and honest with the American people. Whether he becomes the nominee of his party should be less important to him today than whether he preserves his own self-respect. And that's the best rule in politics—never to be "political." The people like it, because politics today is regarded as the art of hypocrisy.

Easter Emergence

By TRUMAN TWILL

They don't eelcherate what we used to think of as the Easter emergence when we were kids.

Kids in this age of synthetic fibers and plastics are not bound by rules about winter clothing. But it isn't necessary to be Whistler's mother or his old man, either, to remember when Easter was the transition from winter to summer clothing.

Shoes were the big deal. Headgear was next.

A few days before Easter, in our family, the kids got new shoes. The new ones made the pair that had been new the preceding Easter available for ordinary occasions.

They would be augmented by a pair of sandals or perhaps a pair of sneakers for the warm months and a pair of heavy leather high tops with rawhide laces and thick soles for winter.

Overshoes hadn't become practical yet. They were of doubtful quality, and the principle was not firmly established. It still made more sense to depend on high tops impregnated with grease and oil for bad weather. A kid could lose one or both overshoes, but he wouldn't lose a pair of high tops laced to the top with rawhide thongs.

It was the dress-up shoe, though, that made the lasting impression. Sometimes they buttoned and sometimes they laced, but always they had the effect of an iron boot into which a foot was squeezed into the shape of the boot. And because the new shoes were worn only on Sundays, for funerals, weddings and ultra-special occasions, they never got broken in until they were released for general following Easter.

—And by that time, they were too small. In this way the feet of generations of growing boys were deformed for life. The girls had no bargain, either, except their shoes were not so heavy, which gave their feet a fighting chance to be what nature intended they should be.

Anyone asked about childhood in that era will admit the deepest impression of his own childhood was how good it felt to go barefoot. When people wonder why most kids now wear shoes all summer it's because shoes have been made comfortable.

As to headgear, the switch from the stocking cap to the visor cap was dependent, among other things on how long the latest earache had been over. If it had been within a month, the stocking cap stayed on.

It stayed on most years until it was ridiculous. Half a lifetime later, when the doctor was peering into my ear to see what was causing the big pain in there, he announced matter-of-factly, "You must have gone through hell when you were a kid, judging by the scar tissue on that eardrum."

That's right. It was hell. The ear that caught most of it ended up with no hearing left in it. The feet that were encased in those stiff shoes look like examples from the Spanish Inquisition.

Easter emergence used to be a big thing—a very big thing. Not only was a kid cut out of his long underwear and his heavy clothing but he had a chance to feel the wind in his ears and to wriggle his toes, once the ground was warm enough to leave off his shoes.

No Trace Found Of 'Sinking' Ship

Freighter Abandoned Off Virginia Coast

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A small Lebanese freighter with a crew of 23 told the Coast Guard it was sinking early today off Virginia's eastern shore. More than seven hours later not a trace of the ship or crew had been found.

At 1:12 a. m. the crew of the 329-foot "Ethel C" said it was abandoning ship about 19 miles off shore.

The first distress signals received by the Coast Guard at 12:58 a. m. indicated the ship, bound for Newport News, was taking water. The Coast Guard said weather in the area was clear and calm and there was no indication of what caused the trouble. The word was that the ship's pumps couldn't cope with water coming into the holds.

The American tanker Esso Leinton, first vessel to reach the scene, found no trace of the "Ethel C" or crew.

At least four Coast Guard surface vessels sped to the area from along the East Coast. Four Coast Guard and Navy planes took to the air.

The 2,847-ton vessel left New York City last Thursday with a cargo of 382 tons of scrap iron. After Newport News, the next port of call was to be Rotterdam.

Lack of wreckage, the Coast Guard added, indicated that in the confusion the sinking vessel might have given a false position and be elsewhere in the area.

No passengers were reported aboard the freighter.

New York agents for the vessel — The Rohrer, Gehrig Shipping Corp. — said the crew was composed largely of Greek seamen. The captain was listed as Diomedes Caravias, 37, a naturalized American citizen of Greek origin. The radio officer was identified as Thomas Gibson, 28, of Great Britain.

A spokesman for the agents said the ship, built in Britain in 1943, was valued at about $150,000 and that the cargo was worth about $130,000.

50 More Blood Donors Are Needed

Fifty more volunteers are needed to give blood Tuesday when the Cleveland Regional Red Cross Bloodmobile "sets up shop" in the United Steelworkers Hall on Prospect St.

A total of at least 180 registrants is needed to insure the quota of 125 pints from Salem at this visit. Hours of collection will be from 12 noon to 6 p. m.

Mrs. Hobart Butcher, executive director of the local Red Cross Chapter, said Salem has failed to reach its goal at the past three visits of the bloodmobile, but that she is hopeful that new donors and those who were unable to keep their appointments at previous collections will call the Red Cross office at ED 2-5219 for appointments.

The blood itself is given free to the sick and injured. The only cost to the patient is the fee charged by the physician and hospital for administering it. Mrs. Butcher explained.

All technical aspects of the operation of blood centers, including the collection, processing, and distribution of blood, are supervised by qualified physicians, assisted by registered nurses and technicians. Most of the nontechnical work is done by Red Cross volunteers, Mrs. Butcher pointed out.

30 Attend Meeting Of Lisbon Grange movements as they placed the ladder against the wall. He ordered them to freeze. They ignored him. He fired a shot over their heads as a second, more deadly warning. They ignored it.

The guard opened fire, along with the two guards in tower No. 1 and the two guards in tower No. 2.

Three men were actually seen clambering up the ladder and disappearing over the wall. One faltered as he reached the top, caught his balance and vanished over the freedom side.

Guards streamed from the prison to the outside grounds.

At the foot of the wall, his face streaked with blood from buckshot wounds, was Jessie L. Davis, 40, committed from King County for robbery. With Davis was Roland Beard, a Yakima County car thief. Neither offered resistance.

Gunfire Halts Murderer

Moments later guards spotted Roy Victor Olson, 24, running through the open field. A burst of gunfire sent the Seattle murderer sprawling in the dirt. Guards pounced on him.

Still missing were Joseph W. Nichols, 28, who was sentenced from King County for robbery, and Robert A. Herr, 21, who was convicted of burglary in Spokane County.

Macklin said Nichols and Herr might be hiding on the prison grounds.

Police Have Few Clues In Peugeot Kidnaping

PARIS (AP)—Police had only a few meager clues today but said they are determined to catch 4-year-old Eric Peugeot's kidnapers. "Kidnaping must not become a profitable enterprise in France," declared one police official.

With little Eric safely back home, brigade investigators obtained interviews with his wealthy father, Roland Peugeot, who apparently would like to see the investigation dropped.

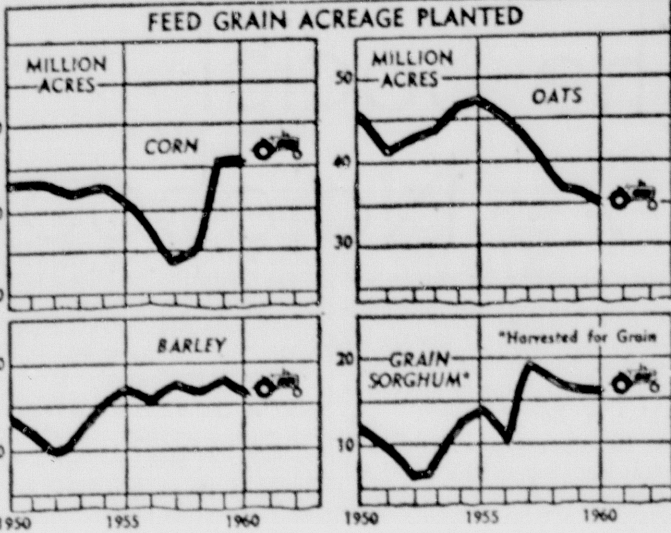

Peugeot, whose family owns a vast automobile and steel empire, had refused to discuss the case while negotiating with the kidnapers for the child's return. He paid them a large ransom and agreed not to seek their arrest.

Indictment Pleas To Be Heard Monday

LISBON — Eleven defendants indicted by the April grand jury will enter pleas at arraignment Monday before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp.

East Liverpool Man Dies In 120-Foot Fall

WEIRTON, W. Va. (AP) — Richard Reed, 45, a iron worker from East Liverpool, Ohio, was killed late Friday in a 120-foot fall while working on a construction project at the Weirton Steel Co.

Reed was building stacks for the A. E. Anderson Construction Co. when the scaffold planking broke. Two men were injured by falling timber.

They were Ben Trumbull, 60, of Weirton, who suffered a fractured knee, and E. T. Zimmerman, 45, of Follansbee, who was cut on his thigh.

Reed, the father of four, had been seriously injured two years ago in a fall while doing construction work at Ambridge, Pa.

Two Fleeing After Crash Are Captured

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Two men, who fled on foot into a field after crashing a stolen car north of Wellington, were captured by the Ohio Highway Patrol today. They were spotted first by a patrol plane. The men gave up without a fight.

The men were brought to the Highway Patrol post here for questioning. Their names were not released. Thirty-five patrol members had joined in a hunt for the men.

An Oberlin police cruiser chased the 1959 Ford station wagon, stolen in Detroit and bearing Kentucky plates, at speeds in excess of 100 miles an hour. A highway patrol unit picked up the chase until the station wagon overturned on Ohio 58.

The patrol said the two men, in their early 20s, were well-dressed and both wore hats.

In the car, officers found a wallet containing a parole card from a Detroit probation office.

Enacting the plays presented to encourage healthy family life are (l. to r.) Susan Gow, Arlene Smith, John Uliney and Gary Myerovich. After the play, Mrs. Paul Hum, School psychologist, will lead a discussion. The public is invited. Installation of new PTA officers will take place at this meeting and final plans for the April 30 Fun Night will be discussed.

'Ohio Mother' to Speak to Local Club, Guests Tuesday

"Ohio Mother of 1955" Mrs. D. A. Bode of Youngstown, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Progressive Mothers Club Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of the First United Presbyterian Church.

Guest night will be observed. Mrs. Bode, one of 13 children, was born in Youngstown, educated in Youngstown Public Schools and graduated from Wooster College. She taught school one semester in Hanover, then three and

New Garden WSCS Has 'Guest Night'

Guest Night was observed Tuesday when the New Garden Woman's Society of Christian Service entertained Kensington Ladies Aid Society and Bunker Hill WSCS. Members of the Girls Choir, directed by Ruth Ann Sanor, were among the 80 present.

Elsie Gamble presided and announced plans for the District Spring Meeting at Steubenville.

Mrs. Lolita Hudson, devotional leader, read from the Book of Matthew and told an Easter Story.

Mrs. Dale Guthrie was organist for group singing. Judy Hall, Jerry August and Linda Conser presented instrumental selections, and the choir sang several numbers.

Featured on the program was a play, "According to Size," provided by the Division of Mental Hygiene and enacted by three members of the speech and dramatic arts class of Youngstown University. Robert Jones was the director. A discussion of points portrayed in the play was led by Mrs. John Baker.

Refreshments were served at a table laid with white linen and centered with a bowl of daffodils. Elsie Wilson poured. Celesta Conser and Bertha Ward were in charge of serving, and they were assisted by Edith Baker, Mrs. Schultz and Mrs. Carl Liber.

The May 10 meeting will be at 10:30 a.m. in the Liber home. Mrs. Edith Hime will be program chairman and Mrs. John Batzli will lead the devotions.

EGGS And EASTER

Mary was crying. "My eggs broke!" she exclaimed, pointing to the nest where her pet hen had been brooding. She could see only broken shells.

"Your eggs didn't break," said her mother. "They hatched. Look again!"

Peeking again, Mary saw pretty little heads peering out from among the broken shells. She was amazed.

"Did they come out of the eggs?" Mary asked.

Her mother assured her that they did. It seemed like a miracle to Mary. She had never seen it happen before.

So it was with Christ's disciples. They thought the worst had happened when they looked into the empty tomb. Actually, a miracle had happened. The disciples realized that when they saw Jesus alive again. They were surprised—and very happy.

To all who believe in the risen Christ, death will be much like the story of the egg. The old shell, in which our soul lives, will break.

But that is not the end. It is only the beginning of better things, just as it proved to be in the case of Jesus on Easter morning.

Join us in adoring God for His power and love this Easter day!

Chicago Team To Beat As American League Opener Nears

Ike to Toss Out
1st Ball Monday
122,000 Expected
At Contests Tuesday

By The Associated Press
For the first time in 40 years the Chicago White Sox are the team to beat as the American League inaugurates its 1960 season Monday with the traditional opener at Washington.

Some 23,000 are expected to be on hand as President Eisenhower interrupts his vacation to throw out the first ball for the Senators-Boston Red Sox battle. Of equal interest is the appearance of Ted Williams in the Red Sox line-up. The 41-year-old slugger, either because of injury, illness, service hitches or marital problems, has missed the season opener in five of the last seven years.

Camilo Pascual, Washington's best pitcher and considered by some the No. 1 pitcher in the league, is slated to oppose Tom Sturdivant. Pascual (17-10) tuned in half of his six lifetime victories over the Red Sox last year. Sturdivant (2-8) has been Boston's hottest pitcher in spring exhibitions.

Approximately 12,000 are expected to attend the four games Tuesday as the entire league springs into action. Forty thousand probably will be at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium to see young Gary Bell (16-11) oppose Detroit's Jim Bunning (17-18). Around 30,000 will come out to see the White Sox open defense of their American League title against Kansas City. Early Wynn (22-10), the league's only 20-game winner last year, will pit his 40-year-old arm against the A's Bud Daley (16-13) at Chicago.

Cool weather is expected to hold the Boston attendance to around 22,000 for the Red Sox game with the New York Yankees. Jerry Casale (13-8) is the probable Boston starter. Jim Coates (6-1), another right-hander, may get the call from Casey Stengel. Another 30,000 may see Washington help the Orioles ring in the new season at Baltimore. Milt Pappas (15-9), the 21-year-old Oriole star, figures to get the starting nod against Pedro Ramos (13-9).

Snead, Finsterwald Tourney Leaders

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — There was an old familiar look to the standings as the $17,500 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament moved in today's third round.

Sam Snead, a frisky 47-year-old who has won this tournament six times since he took his first staging in 1938, shared the 36-hole lead with Dow Finsterwald at 134.

Snead, from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a 66 and Finsterwald, from Tequesta, Fla., a 67 Friday. They were eight under par for two rounds over the 6,651-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course.

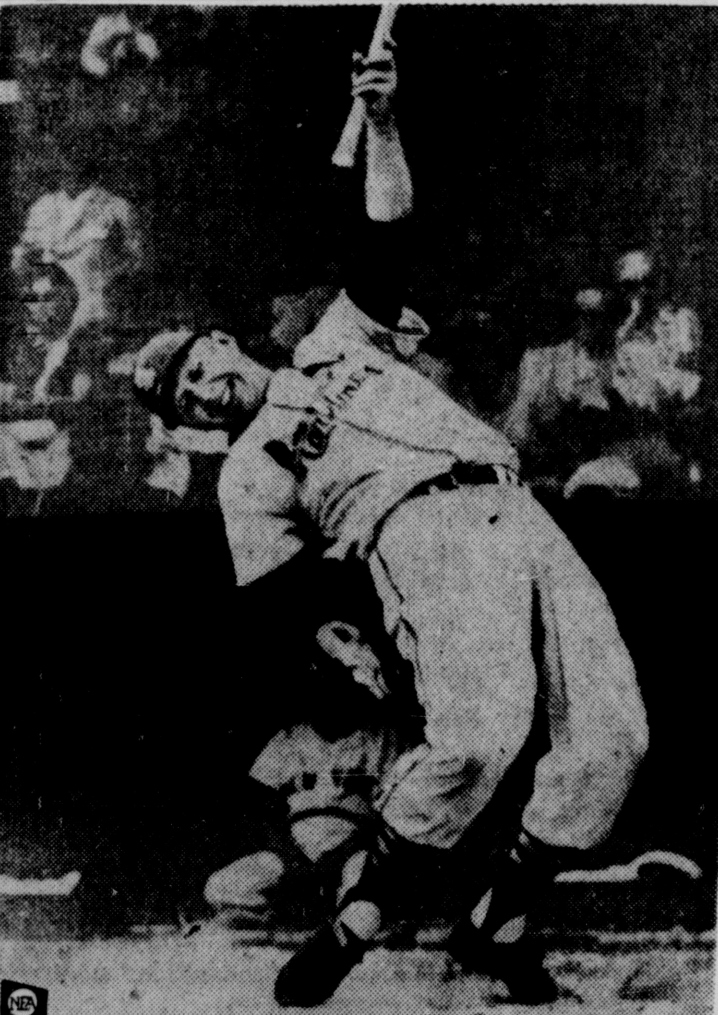

One stroke back was Bob Goalby playing from Crystal River, Fla., who shot a 66.

It took a score of 149 or better to survive the 36-hole cut and 62 pros made the grade for the last two days of scrambling for the top money of $2,400 and 29 other prizes.

In fourth place at 137 was Len Woodward of Sydney, Australia. Next came first-round leader Thorne Wood of Asheboro, N.C., and Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, tied at 138.

Reds' McLish, Cardinals Pose Questions After Week of Play

By The Associated Press
As the National League rolls into its first weekend today every club has lost once and the most pressing questions of the moment are:

Can Cal McLish be a winner in the NL?

Hook Takes Mound for Cincy Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Don Newcombe, one of the best pitchers the National League has known, said this about his young teammate:

"This kid Jay Hook has got the stuff to become a great pitcher, but first he has to learn to control it."

The Cincinnati Reds and especially Manager Fred Hutchinson think Hook has enough of that control now.

That's why he's starting today against Pittsburgh's Pirates, the crew that Thursday gave the Reds the worst shellacking, 13-0, of the infant major league season.

Hook, 23, is a sturdy 6-foot-2 righthander who started off with a blazing fast ball, but was erratic last season. After being called up from Seattle, he finished with a 5-5 mark for the Reds.

Hutchinson knew the Reds needed Hook this season and with coach Cot Deal went to work to polish the young pitcher's talents.

"He was a real greenhorn when he came to me from Seattle early last season," said Hutch. "But he's a studious kid with a great arm and equally important, a competitor's stomach."

Hook said he's much more confident this season because "I started making mistakes the final month of last season and they were costly."

He said one mistake was bad footwork on the mound. Coach Deal worked on that this spring, and Hook's curve pitches have improved notably.

And, what's with the St. Louis Cardinals?

It was McLish, a husky right-hander with a skinny 8-21 record in the NL through 1951, who went square and became an ace in the American League with Cleveland after a four-year stay in the minors. He had a 46-27 record in four years with the Indians, when they traded him to the Cincinnati Reds after he won 19 games last season.

But in his first start with the Reds, McLish, admittedly a slow starter who has trouble getting his trademark breaking stuff under control, was shelled for five hits, all for extra bases, and five runs in 2 2-3 innings for a 13-0 defeat at Pittsburgh.

A year ago, McLish won his first five decisions with the Indians and four were complete games. Only twice last year did he fail to last three innings, as he did against the Pirates.

The Cardinals, who ran up the top spring exhibition record (18-8), have had even a more sluggish start than McLish. They've missed three times, the only club in the league without a victory.

Right-hander Larry Jackson, who lost the opener at San Francisco, goes again tonight for the Cards at Los Angeles. Right-hander Don Drysdale, an opening game winner, will work for the Dodgers, who are tied for first with the Chicago Cubs and Giants.

A full, four-game schedule is in the works today for the NL after Friday's Good Friday lull.

The Giants, working Sam Jones with three days rest so he can come back against the Dodgers next week, resume their series with the Cubs against right-hander Dick Drott (0-0). Right-hander Bob Buhl makes his 1960 debut for Milwaukee at Philadelphia. The Phils, with Manager Gene Mauch making his debut as Eddie Sawyer's successor, will go with John Buzhardt (0-0), late of the Cubs.

Cincinnati, pitching young Jay Hook (0-0), is at Pittsburgh against Rookie Jim Umbricht (0-0) in the other game.

College Tourney In Final Round

Two Players Tied,
Lead Pack of 64

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Larry Beck of the University of Houston and Gene Dixon of Memphis State were deadlocked at 212—four under par—today as 64 players began the final round of the sixth annual National Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Beck, the 1959 North Carolina State Amateur champion from Kinston, N.C., rescued a third round tie on the final green Friday after missing a chance to overtake Dixon, the tournament medalist and 36-hole leader.

The Houston sophomore was four under par through 15 holes but went three over the 16th and 17th greens at the 6,801-yard, par 72 Pine Forest Country Club course. A 15-foot birdie putt on the final green rescued the tie.

Beck posted a 73-69-70—212. Dixon had a 71-68-73—212.

Two former champions and another Houston sophomore were within five strokes of the leaders. Jacky Cupit, the 1958 winner from Houston, had a 75-68-71—214 and teammate Homero Blancas a 72-70-74—216. Don Essig, the defending champion from Louisiana State, had a 74-70-73—217.

The Houston foursome entered the final 18 holes with a 28-point team medal lead over Louisiana State. Houston had an even par 864, LSU 892.

Oklahoma State followed with 923, North Texas State 926, New Mexico 930, Texas A&M 935, Tulsa 942, Memphis State 944, Baylor 948, Texas Tech 952, Arizona State (Tempe) 952, Southern Methodist 956, Texas 957, Western Illinois 982, Oklahoma 988, and Rice 999.

Dodgers' Reliever To Get Starting Role

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Larry Sherry experiment is scheduled to be resumed Sunday.

The crack relief pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers gets his chance to start his second game of the new season against the St. Louis Cardinals in Memorial Coliseum.

Sherry, insistent on being a starting pitcher, got his first chance of 1960 against the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night. He was "touched" for nine hits in nine innings and wrecked, 4-0, by the home run blasts of Ernie Banks and Frank Thomas.

Manager Walt Alton of the Dodgers obviously is in a quandary over Sherry. He would prefer him for bullpen duty and has the greatest confidence in him in that capacity.

But Alton is going along, at least for the moment, in giving Sherry a shot at a starting role. Sherry was the hurling hero in the Dodgers' World Series victory over the Chicago White Sox when he won two and saved two games.

Indians, Chisox Tangle Today

Bell to Pitch Tuesday
In Tribe's Opener

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have their first 1960 joust today with the American League's "team to beat"—the Chicago White Sox. Then the two clubs end their exhibition schedules Sunday in Memphis.

A sweep of the last two practice games by the Indians would start the two clubs into the regular season with identical exhibition-season records of 16-15.

Before the Indians and White Sox flew here together Friday night from Daytona Beach, Fla., Cleveland Manager Joe Gordon confirmed his choice of Gary Bell to pitch Tuesday's opener in Cleveland against Detroit. Bell beat the Kansas City Athletics in the opener last year, 3-2.

The Indians made one more roster change Friday, optioning pitcher Carl Mathias to Toronto and recalling outfielder Don Dillard from Toronto. Dillard will be used as a left-handed pinch hitter. He hit .283 last year at San Diego.

Mathias pitched three innings for Toronto against the Indians Friday, giving up five runs on eight hits as Cleveland defeated the Maple Leafs 11-6.

Jim Perry was named by Gordon for mound duty in the second game with the Tigers Wednesday. Perry gave Toronto only two hits and two runs in seven innings Friday. The Maple Leafs got four of their six runs on a grand slam homer by Jim King, former Chicago Cub, and southpaw Mike Lee was the victim.

Walt Bond, Rocky Colavito, Bubba Phillips and Mike De La Hoz all hit home runs for Cleveland. Bond also got a triple and got himself nicked on the right elbow by a pitched ball for the second straight day.

Auto Racing to Open At Sharon on May 1

Promoter Jim Novak has announced plans to hold the first stock car racing program of the season Sunday, May 1, at Sharon Speedway.

The opening race will be held in the evening and will be run on the quarter-mile oval.

Starting time for the evening races will be 8:30 with the time trials to begin at 7. Gates to the speedway will open at 6:30.

TO WIND UP TRAINING

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — Both champion Gene Fullmer and challenger Joey Giardella plan to wind up training today for their 10 p.m. (EST) Wednesday middleweight title bout in the Montana State College fieldhouse.

In the first Rose Bowl football game in 1960, Michigan defeated Stanford 49-0.

ROUGH — TOUGH — Gene Fullmer, middleweight champ, takes the full brunt of a medicine ball to the midsection. Blow is administered by manager Marv Jensen at Salt Lake City, Utah, where the fighter is training for his upcoming match with Joey Giardella.

3 Salem Officials to Work Contests

Sebring Basketball, Football Slates Set for Next Season

Sebring High School Athletic Director Ray Schaefer has announced a 10-game football schedule and an 18-game basketball slate for that school next season.

The Trojans will open their 1960 football season at home on Sept. 9 against McDonald. McDonald is one of three teams Sebring will meet outside the Tri-County League. The other two are Newton Falls and Boardman.

Six of the grid games are listed for home and four on the road.

Three Salem officials are among the referees listed to work the games. Jack Rance will officiate games with Leetonia and Newton Falls. Keith Laughlin will work in the Lisbon tilt and I. W. Piersol will help handle the Minerva game.

Only one new foe appears on the Trojan's basketball schedule. Dennison St. Mary's will help Sebring open its season at home on Dec. 2. Dennison replaces Salem on the schedule.

Besides meeting the seven other Tri-County League members on a home-and-home basis, the Trojans have games lined up with Canton Lincoln at Canton and Alliance and Newton Falls at Sebring.

All basketball games will be played on Fridays and Saturdays with the exception of the Newton Falls tilt which will be played on a Tuesday.

Sebring fans can see their team play 10 games on the home court and eight on the road.

The complete football and basketball schedules for Sebring are as follows:

1960 FOOTBALL
Sept. 9, McDonald, home
Sept. 16, Newton Falls, home
Sept. 23, East Palestine, home
Sept. 30, Louisville, away

ABC Tourney Starts Into Seventh Week

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Booster teams—180 of them—have the 58th American Bowling Congress tournament all to themselves today as the 70-day event starts into its seventh week.

There will be five full 36-team squads scheduled—most of them from the Toledo area and nearby cities, and 272 will be their magic number of pins to break into the top 10 of their division's standings.

This means averaging 907 for each of their three games—a considerable challenge, since eligibility for the booster division is limited to teams averaging 850 or less in regular league play.

Friday night the best booster team effort was a 2683 by the Red Sox of Inkster, Mich., and in the last 20 days of competition only one team has broken into the top 10. Here's the top 10 with the dates their scores were posted:

Brannan Boosters No. 2, McKees Rocks, Pa., 2822 on March 27

Checker Cab, Detroit, 2795 on March 25

Slovak Club, New Castle, Pa., 2787 on April 7

Brannan Boosters No. 1, McKees Rocks, Pa., 2785 on March 27

Hendron's Tavern, Salem, Ohio, 2761 on March 24

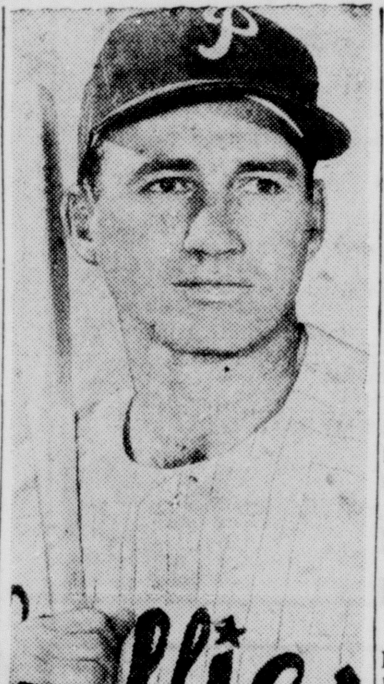

Riverside Convalescent Home, Ann Arbor, Mich., 2761 on March 24

Sylvania Electric, Ottawa, Ohio, 2741 on March 8

Derby Bar, Swissvale, Pa., 2736 on March 13

Salay's Fine Sausage, Flint, Mich., 2721 on March 21

Brown Electric, Jackson, Mich., 2721 on March 21

STEADY — The Philadelphia Phillies may be rebuilding, but there will be few mistakes at third base, from where the veteran, Alvin Dark, has taken over control of the infield.

Miteff Scores TKO In 6th Over Warner

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Alex Miteff can take care of the newcomers in the heavyweight class but he still must learn to handle the experienced fighters.

That was the consensus here today after the big Argentine pummeled Philadelphia Don Warner into a sixth-round technical knockout Friday night in a scheduled 10-round bout.

Warner at 192 and giving away 10 pounds, couldn't answer the bell for the sixth round because of a torn left rib cartilage suffered when Miteff exploded a body punch in the fourth round. And that punch, as it turned out, made the difference for Warner's whole attack disintegrated.

Miteff said later that he has been signed for a May fight against Californian Eddie Machen in New York's Madison Square Garden. He subbed for Machen here Friday night when the Redding, Calif., fighter had to back out because of domestic difficulties.

YOUTH DIES IN CRASH

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP) — Raymond Kovacic, 18, of Wickliffe, was killed in an automobile truck collision on Ohio 306 south-east of here in Kirtland Twp. Friday night. Two passengers with him in the car were hospitalized. The truck driver, David D. Detweiler, 22, of Uniontown, Ohio, said the car weaved sideways on the road and was hit on the side by his tractor-trailer rig.

Attic Search Might Uncover a Few

Early Books Printed Here Were Educational

By JAMES MURPHY

In the dusty attic of some Salem home, there may be a long-forgotten book or two which will now bring a good price from an antique dealer.

For example, the first arithmetic book printed in Ohio was published at New Garden. Written by Joshua Shinn, the "New Ohio Arithmetic" first appeared in 1828. H. J. Howard printed the small volume, which might bring as much as $25.00 or more at auction, when the book is in good condition.

A FEW YEARS EARLIER, in 1826, Joshua Shinn had printed another book in Salem. It too is now quite scarce.

The full title is "The Shipwreck and Dreadful Sufferings of Robert Barrow, With Divers Other Persons, Amongst the Inhuman Cannibals of Florida; Faithfully Related by Jonathan Dickinson, Who Was Concerned Therein. To Which Are Added Some Remarks and Observations, Made by a Person Who Enounced Deism; Also, the Dying Expressions of Some Persons of Eminence and Learning, Who Had Embraced the Same Principles."

As the title suggests, the author was inclined to be wordy. In spite of the reference to the inhuman cannibals of Florida, the book is rather dry reading, for most of it is primarily a religious tract.

Many of the first books printed in Salem were either of a religious nature or were textbooks because the town was so predominantly Quaker.

Joshua Shinn himself was a prominent Friend, as were most of the pioneer school teachers. In later years books from Salem dealt more and more with the problem of slavery.

AS FAR AS IS KNOWN, the first woman author in town was Mrs. Rachel Watson, who wrote "Mrs. Watson's Family Physician." A copy of this rare book is preserved in the historical collection at the Salem Public Library.

It is uncertain which was the first book published in Salem. Some authorities say it was Shinn's edition of Robert Barrow's exploits in Florida, but others claim that a teacher in Salem named Trescott printed the "United States Primer, or First Spelling Book for Children" a few years before Shinn published his book.

Many other early Salem publications have become very scarce. Because collectors or dealers are willing to pay high prices for some of them, a careful search of the attics and cellars of Salem might prove profitable.

Democrats to Hear Candidates April 23

Democratic candidates for public office will be heard at a "Meet Your Candidates" dinner Saturday evening, April 23, at Lincoln school in Lisbon.

The event is sponsored by the Central Columbiana County Democrat Club.

Lewis Sowards of Lisbon is general chairman; John Kelly of Lisbon, in charge of tickets, and Stephen Barborak of West Point, program. Atty. Herbert Arfman of Salem will be master of ceremonies.

Sowards said between 200 and 300 persons are expected to attend. Each candidate will be allotted equal time to speak after enjoying the fried chicken dinner.

Ravenna Store Owner Robbed for $6,000

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Charles Fletcher, a grocery store manager and a woman cashier in the store were robbed Friday night of $3,500 in cash and $2,500 in checks which they were about to take to a bank.

Fletcher told police two men who were armed came up to his car as he was about to drive away from the store, broke the car window, and ordered the two out. Fletcher and the woman then were forced to ride with the robbers in the holdup men's car for about 25 miles to Bedford where they were pushed out.

EARLY SERVICE PLANNED
Jerry Renkenberger of Salem will be organizer for the 5:30 a.m. Easter sunrise service at Liberty Plaza, Youngstown, presented by the Rev. Clement Humbard. The service will be marked by an unusual fireworks display.

Burmese Minister, Chou Begin Talks

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Prime Minister U Nu open, leisurely talks today amid reports the Burmese leader may offer to mediate the Red China-India border dispute.

Chou, who arrived Friday for a four-day state visit before meeting with Indian Prime Minister Nehru in New Delhi, had little to discuss with U Nu in the way of Burmese-Peiping relations.

The two countries have been tossing bouquets at each other since partial settlement of their long-standing border argument and the signing of a 10-year non-aggression pact in January.

Burmese officials hailed their border agreement with Peiping and suggested that India was not showing enough give-and-take toward settlement of its dispute with Red China.

Nehru already has expressed doubts that his talks with Chou will produce any immediate solution to their dispute over 51,000 square miles of territory in the Himalayas.

2 Servicemen Stabbed By Group of Youths

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Seaman Everett Harris, 18, of Utica, Ohio, was stabbed and another serviceman injured Thursday night when they were attacked by a group of Negro youths as they strolled with their women companions.

Harris and Airman Teddy Whitt, 17, of Rt. 2, Creedmoor, N. C., both white, were reported in satisfactory condition at Bethesda Naval Hospital. Both are stationed at Anacostia Naval Air Station.

Police said the couples had just left a restaurant when one of the Negro youths shouted: "What did you say about us?"

The servicemen replied they had said nothing and another Negro shouted: "One of us can take care of both of you." A few minutes later they were attacked. Whitt suffered a broken ankle.

100 PERSONS FLEE FIRE

CLEVELAND (AP)—About 100 persons were led to safety early today when fire swept through the first two floors of a four-story brick apartment here. The fire started in the basement from undetermined cause.

About 50 firemen fought the blaze and helped evacuate occupants of 40 suites. Only injury was a broken ankle suffered by a woman who fell when she tripped on a fire hose. The fire department's damage estimate was $35,000.

TOT DROWNS IN TUB

CINCINNATI (AP)—Paul David Riddell Hall, 17 months old, apparently drowned in a bathtub at his home Friday night, police reported. Officers said a friend of the boy's mother put the youngster in the tub and left him briefly.

Expectant Mothers Course Will Begin

Expectant mothers, who have not yet enrolled in the new parenthood class, which will begin on Wednesday evening in the Hannah E. Mullins Nurses Home, may still register by calling the Salem City Health Department at ED 7-8543.

This is the third class for expectant mothers to be sponsored by Nurses Alumnae Association of Salem City Hospital, Salem City Health Department and Salem Hospitals Auxiliary.

The information received in the course of study supplements but does not take the place of that received from the mother's own private physician. Mrs. Elizabeth Stacey, city health nurse, said. She reports that women who attended the previous courses have expressed appreciation for the benefits received.

Films supplement the lessons which are taught by the staff personnel of the Central Clinic, City Hospital and City Health Department.

The course, which begins Wednesday, will continue for six consecutive weeks from 7 to 9 p.m.

Three Canton Men Are Held In Robbery

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Three Canton men were charged Friday with concealing stolen property in connection with a $60,000 robbery Jan. 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Goldsmith, Phillip J. Morello, 36, Jack W. Shreve, 30, and George V. Jacobs, 30, were free under $5,000 bond each pending arraignment Tuesday.

Three robbers tied up the Goldsmiths with sheets, blew open a safe and fled with about $250 in cash and a quantity of jewels.

Louisville Barn Burns, Loss Is Extensive

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—A 90 by 40-foot barn on the Weaverdale Farms near Louisville burned to the ground Friday night with loss estimated at $100,000. Lightning was blamed for starting the blaze in a haymow of the barn which contained 70 tons of hay, 10 tons of straw and grain.

A herd of 100 pure-bred registered Holstein cattle were saved, but four calves were lost, along with a tractor, truck and other equipment. Dr. Harry Weaver of Alliance, owner of the 225-acre farm which supplies milk to an Alliance-area dairy, estimated the loss.
